Rheumatism Sprains Lumbago Sciatica

Why grin and bear all these ills when Sloan's Liniment kills pain?

"I have used your Liniment and can say it is fine. I have used it for sore throat, strained shoulder, and it acted like a charm."—Allen Dunn, Route 1, Box 88, Pine Valley, Miss.

"I am a painter and paperhanger by trade, consequently up and down ladders. About two years ago my left knee became lame and sore. It pained me at night as times till I could not rest, and I was contemplating giving up my trade on account of it when I changed to think of Sloan's Liniment. I had never tried it before, and I am glad to state that less than one 25c bottle fixed me up apparently as good as ever."—Charles C. Campbell, Florence, Texas.

THE RESERVE BOARD UNITED

Story of Serious Division Is Declared Absurd

CHARGED McADOO FAVORED SMITH

Warburg and Harding Issue a Full Denial

Washington, Nov. 25.—Unequivocal denial is made by Messrs. Warburg and Harding of the federal reserve board of a fatherless story from New York to the effect of a serious division in the board over alleged discrimination by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo in favor of southern banks in the deposit of federal funds. The story alleges that Secretary McAdoo is stoutly supported in his policy by Governor Charles S. Hamlin and by Comptroller Williams and that the four other members of the board are so incensed over conditions that their resignations are possible. As this story is based upon what "one of the members of the federal reserve board told a New York friend last Friday," the denial is made by Messrs. Warburg and Harding, who were in New York on that day, as follows:

"The story printed in a morning paper to the effect that there was a rift in the federal reserve board is absurd upon its face and without the slightest foundation. As the story purports to have come from members of the federal reserve board in New York on Friday last, and as we are the only two members who were there at that time, having been in that city on that date to attend a meeting of the cotton fund committee, we feel it our duty to make this positive and unequivocal denial."

The reference in this statement to the "absurdity on its face" of the sensational allegations probably is to the charge that Messrs. Warburg, Delano, Miller and Harding "have taken a determined stand against the proposal of Secretary McAdoo to distribute national funds amounting to $135,000,000 in southern banks for the purpose of aiding the cotton situation." Not only has the cotton fund nothing to do with federal deposits, but the federal reserve board has no more authority over the secretary of the treasury in the making of deposits than it has over President Wilson's foreign policy. Under the law the secretary of treasury and not the federal reserve board, is given full discretion in the placing of government deposits, and for the members of the federal reserve board to entertain official opinions as to how the money should be distributed would be wholly gratuitous.

These figures frequently are not obtainable even at the higher prices.

QUEEN MARY THANKS WIFE OF AMBASSADOR

Expresses Appreciation of the Christmas Gifts Sent to Children in Europe.

London, Nov. 25.—Queen Mary has sent to Mrs. Walter H. Page, wife of the American ambassador, a letter of thanks for the Christmas gifts of warm clothing from the children of the United States to the children of this and the other belligerent countries. I am anxious to express through you my warm appreciation of this touching proof of generous sympathy, and to ask you to be so kind as to convey my heartfelt thanks to all who have contributed toward the presents, which will, I feel sure, be gladly welcomed by the children for whom they are intended, and received with gratitude by their parents.

COPPER FOR THE ENEMY.

The Alleged Shipments Seriously Disturb Great Britain.

Washington, Nov. 25.—To maintain successfully her right to seize or detain cargoes of American copper carried on an American or other neutral vessel to a neutral country, such as Italy in the south or Holland in the north of Europe, Great Britain apparently finds it necessary to establish the probability that copper actually is destined for Germany or Austria or even Turkey. One means of establishing this probability is to demonstrate that there has been an increase in the imports of copper into any neutral country in excess of the normal requirements of that country as tending to prove that the surplus copper, or a corresponding quantity already in the country, has been allowed to pass across its borders into a belligerent country.

The British government has been collecting statistics on this subject and Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, spent an hour with Acting Secretary Lansing at the state department studying the figures. According to Mr. Lansing, the figures seem to show that the state of the copper trade of the neutral European countries was abnormal, though there was no general increase or decrease. The whole subject of the right of the British government to interfere with these copper shipments is still under consideration by the state department in connection with arguments presented on the same subject by counsel for the four American copper producing companies protesting against the detention of their product.

"JUST THINKING."

Wilson Springs Joke Over the Senate Story.

Washington, Nov. 25.—President Wilson yesterday illustrated to callers his state of mind on the question of attending executive sessions of the Senate by telling the following story:

"A certain man was playing golf, and after a few holes he turned to his caddy and said:

"Caddy, have you ever seen anyone play worse golf?"

"I say, did you ever see anyone play worse golf?" repeated the man, evidently thinking the caddy had not heard.

"I heard you the first time," said the caddy. "I was just thinking."

Obituary.

The sudden death of Henry N. Darling, Sunday morning, Nov. 15, in Albany, brought a shock to the whole community. He was caring for a typhoid fever patient, apparently as well as usual, but not really in his usual health for more than a year. He had a slight cough and sometimes remarked that he felt badly across his chest. Sunday morning he had eaten his breakfast and taken something to his patient, when he left the room, going directly to the sink-room, where he poured out his life's blood in a hemorrhage of the lungs, and all was over in one minute; his life had gone out.

Henry Newton Darling was born in Albany, Jan. 16, 1855, the eldest son of Norris M. and Mary R. (McClary) Darling. He was educated in the public schools and was considered a bright scholar. He left home when 17 years of age, working for three years in Lowell, Mass., and while there united with the First Congregational church. Later he attended the Bryant & Stratton Business college in Providence, R. I. In the spring of 1880 he went to Colorado, where he remained 12 years, teaching, and in hotel work in Canon City and in Salt Lake City, Utah. At that time he could converse in the German language as a native. He returned to Vermont in 1894 and has been occupied much of the time in caring for old men. He was a pleasing companion, having something of his experience or book to interest those with whom he happened to be, a wonderful memory and a gift to communicate to others his thoughts.

He had a very sweet voice in song, but had sung very little lately. For several years he had spent much of the summer time at Lake Eden with his sister, Mrs. Blake. He will be much missed by his many friends.

He leaves three sisters and one brother, Mrs. Julia S. Blake, who was unable to attend the funeral; Mrs. Della H. Hovey, from whose home he was buried; Mrs. L. D. Nute of Marshfield, and Edward N. Darling of Bethel, Mass.

The funeral Tuesday afternoon was held in the Congregational church, Rev. W. A. Warner of Barton officiating, with a prayer by Rev. G. H. Perry of Albany. A fine solo was tenderly sung by Mrs. D. Blake, a nephew of North Troy, Mrs. Lawrence of Marshfield at the organ. The flowers were plentiful and beautiful, silent tokens of love and esteem from his friends. The service was gratifying and comforting and the deceased was laid away in the village cemetery in "the beautiful rest of God." The hearse was the hearse, four nephews and one cousin.

Those from out of town who attended the funeral were E. N. Hilditch and wife of Bethel, Mass.; Mrs. L. D. Nute, Mrs. L. M. Carpenter, V. E. Hudson, Marshfield; N. D. Blake, North Troy; R. B. Blake, Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Brown, Eden; Mrs. L. C. Hayes, W. A. Eldridge, Fay Eldridge, Chelsea; C. L. Parkhurst, Lyndon; Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Rogers, Mrs. Jennie Towner, Newport; Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Kinney, Greenbury. The family are very grateful for all the kind and sympathetic words and deeds given.

ONE way to reduce the cost of living is to watch the spoonfuls—to learn the many simple ways of kitchen economy.

You have heard a good deal about the discovery of the scientific Crisco Process. Perhaps you have not realized that one of Crisco's most important advantages is economy. Besides being a pure vegetable cooking fat, which produces digestible and delicious foods, Crisco also is a money saver. For the following reasons it is economy to use

CRISCO

For Frying For Shortening For Cake Making

Economy in Frying

Can be used over and over for frying all manner of foods—fish, onions, potatoes. It is not necessary to keep different kettles of fat for different fryings.

In deep frying, Crisco can be heated hotter than lard without smoking. By having Crisco hot enough and by adding a small amount of raw food at a time, there practically will be no absorption. Notice how small an amount has been used.

Economy in Shortening

Crisco is the richest of cooking fats. Less, therefore, need be used. Crisco also is cheaper per net pound than the best quality of lard.

Economy in Cake Making

Crisco cakes are as delicate and rich as butter cakes. Crisco costs less than half as much as butter and less Crisco need be used, because butter is one-fifth water, salt and curd, while Crisco is 100% fat.

was a recent guest of her sister, Mrs. Henry Roy.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Houghton are being entertained at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ernest Witham, at Noyesville.
